

Sin is No Longer Your Boss - Romans 6:1-14

Should a Christian live in on-going, unrepentant sin so that God's grace may increase and abound?

The Christian needs to know and remember who he actually is. He is dead to sin and alive to God in Christ Jesus.

In light of who he is, the true Christian must not let sin be his master. Instead, he should present his life and body to the Lord as a servant of righteousness.

Questions for Discussion & Application

1. What questions do you have about today's passage?
2. Do persons ever wrongly understand the Gospel of grace as giving them a license to live in more and more sin? How does today's passage address this wrong way of thinking?
3. What does it mean to say that the Christian died to sin when he was converted? How do you see this reality in your own life?
4. According to verse 11, how is the Christian to regard himself? Why is it so important that we know and remember who we actually are as Christians?
5. In what area do you need to remember that sin is not your master anymore and instead present yourself to God as a servant of righteousness?